Wolves v Tranmere Rovers
8th August 1998

A Mere Stroll

Wolves, playing this match as if with something to prove, dominated the first half with the exception of one effort from Tranmere's Russell, who thundered a shot against the angle of post and bar.

Steve Bull, playing and looking as fit as ever, created several chances, one as early as the eighth minute, when he shot wide from Simon Osbourne's passed free kick, and again in the tenth minute when Simonsen blocked his shot. However, Steve Corica, should have tucked the rebound away.

In the twentieth minute, Bull sent a neat glancing header out to Kevin Muscat on the wing, and his fine cross to the near post, found Robbie Keane, whose shot on the turn was parried by Rovers keeper Simonsen, but Keane reacted fastest of the pack, to rifle the rebound into the net.

Wolves continued to control the game, and should have been further ahead by the half time interval.

Half Time: Wolves 1 Tranmere 0

The second half was a tad anti-climatic for Wolves supporters, and really only came to life when a late penalty decision was awarded against McGreal, for his clumsy challenge on Steve Froggatt, and skipper Keith Curle duly smashed the spot kick into the centre of the net with the 'keeper diving aimlessly.

Tranmere manager John Aldridge, furious at the referee's decision was fortunate to escape with just banishment to the stand, after hurling a drink container at the ground, and it veered off in the direction of the linesman (sorry, assistant referee).

Barnet v Wolves (Worthington Cup)

1st Round 1st Leg

11th August 1998

A Fine Scalp for Barnet

In a match which they were expected to win, Wolves strolled about the pitch as if they could do so at leisure, with Robbie Keane showing some exciting touches.

A host of watching managers saw Keane go close on three occasions in the first half, including a disallowed chip shot from the edge of the area, cancelled out for off-side, and the sides entered the break all square.

Half time: Barnet 0 Wolves 0

Robert Sawyer was causing the Wolves' defence some problems with his long throws, and it was from one of these in the sixty eighth minute, that Mike Stowell going to collect the ball at his right-hand post, flapped and missed, allowing Scott McGleish to stoop low and head into an empty net.

Wolves upped the pace over the next few attacks, and in the seventy-seventh minute Simon Osborn curled a shot from the left hand side of the penalty area, which deceived everyone, and flew into the far corner of the Barnet goal.

Seemingly content to bring the teams back to Molineux on level terms, Wolves relaxed, only to find that Barnet were not content to let matters rest there, and with only seconds left of this cup-tie, McGleish released Darren Currie, nephew of former England star Tony, and he crashed an unstoppable right foot shot into the top left hand corner of Stowell's goal.

Oxford Utd v Wolves
15th August 1998

Lords of the Manor

Once again, Robbie Keane was the star of the show, causing the Oxford defence problem upon problem, as he twisted and turned their defence inside out.

But it was that more established war-horse Steve Bull, who put Wolves ahead.

On the stroke of half-time, Bully, challenging the Oxford 'keeper in mid-air, caused Whitehead to drop the ball from Kevin Muscat's cross, and turning the fastest, toe poked the ball into the net.

Fernando Gomez, making his Wolves' debut in mid-field, impressed with some neat touches and aggressive challenges, something which Wolves have been sadly lacking, and looking as if he will be a valuable asset to the side.

Half Time: Oxford 0 Wolves 1

Oxford came out for the second half showing more aggression, and succeeded in getting six names into referee Messias' notebook. But Wolves always looked the more likely to score, and when Robbie Keane was hauled down ten minutes from time, the game was sealed.

Keith Curle stepped up for what should have been his second goal of the season, but Whitehead read the situation correctly, and saved the spot kick, only for Simon Osborn to react quickly to the rebound and net Wolves second.

Keeper Whitehead then kept Wolves from further increasing their lead with several fine saves.

Wolves v Barnet (Worthington Cup)

1st round 2nd leg

18th August 1998

Bully trims Barnet

Steve Bull equalled John Richards' record of eighteen goals for Wolves in the League Cup, by scoring his first hat-trick for over seven years. With a deficit of one goal to pull back from the first leg, Wolves roared into a three goal half-time lead, with Bully scoring twice and Robbie Keane once. His first was when he picked up a pass from Lee Naylor, passed wide to Keane, and then dived to head home in the 15th minute. He added a second in the 36th minute when chesting down a Fernando Gomez centre and smashing a rising half-volley into the net. Almost on the stroke of half-time, Robbie Keane collected a Bull header from a Lee Naylor free-kick and, unmarked, shot past keeper Harrison to secure a two goal cushion between the teams at half-time.

Half time: Wolves 3 Barnet 0

The two in-form strikers each got on the scoresheet again in the second half, with Bull supplying a flicked pass to Keane in the 75th minute, the young forward then sold the keeper a dummy before flicking an audacious chip shot over him.

Bully then completed the rout four minutes later powering a header into the net from Steve Froggatt's corner, and promptly left the field to a standing ovation. This was the 18th hat-trick of Bully's career, and this performance showed just how hard he had worked at his fitness.

Wolves v Swindon Town
22nd August 1998

Town pay the penalty

Wolves got off to their best start to a season for 29 years, but owed this success to the cool headed penalty taking of skipper Keith Curle, who side footed the ball into the corner of the goal in the twenty ninth minute.

The penalty came as the result of a determined run through the centre by Robbie Keane, who latched onto a super through ball from Fernando Gomez.

Wolves could and should have had more goals to their name, with both Steve Bull and Robbie Keane going close, and Bully having his best game of the present campaign so far, defending well, spraying some fine passes from midfield, and working hard in attack.

The Wolves defence looked fairly solid, and restricted Swindon to just two shots in the whole game, despite Town having about seventy percent of the possession in the second half. With ten minutes left, Connolly came off of the bench to make his first appearance in Wolves colours, and looked extremely lively.

Wolves v Watford
28th August 1998

Wolves give 'em what for Wolves continued with their impressive start to the season with a well disciplined display, easily their best performance for many a month.

With Bully again looking in top shape, Keane tormenting the home defence, and the rest of the side putting in very workman-like efforts, the Wanderers hardly ever looked to be in any danger of conceding their first goal of the new campaign.

Even before Steve Bull latched onto a Steve Froggatt through ball to hammer a low shot past the Watford Keeper in the forty forth minute, Wolves had always seemed to be in complete control, but they could have been a goal behind but for the sharp eyes of the referee, who spotted a "hand of God" incident, by Ngonge, who was very fortunate only to receive a yellow card for his crime.

The whistle went for the half-time break before the teams could even restart, and with almost as little time gone after the break, (18 seconds to be precise!), Carl Naylor stole the ball on the left, freed Steve Froggatt on the left hand touch-line, and his accurate centre was met by Robbie Keane, who dragged the ball from behind him into the net.

Wolves continued to dominate, and could have had several more goals, in this most pleasing and confidence building performance.

Wolves v Stockport County
31st August 1998

Wolves count cost of defensive lapses

In a very entertaining match, early joy turned to despair, and eventually, after blowing a two goal lead, Wolves were booed from the pitch.

All had started so brightly, with the home side racing into the game with an assurance that said they were about to go clear at the top of the division, and as early as the first minute Robbie Keane raced clear, having been released by Simon Osborn, but County keeper Nash raced from his goal to charge the first, and then block the second, of the youngster's efforts.

Five minutes later, however, Wolves were in the lead when Osborn's corner was cleared as far as Froggatt, who delivered a cheeky chipped ball onto the bar, and Dean Richards smashed the rebound home.

Once again, Osborn was involved in the second goal, and what a beauty it was. Flynn headed clear from his cross, but the ball went only as far as Fernando Gomez, who chested the ball down, and hammered a vicious volley, which dipped over the keeper and under the bar, for a glorious first goal for the Spaniard.

A minute before half-time however, former Wolves favourite, Paul Cooke, helped reduce the arrears when he centred a free kick from the right, for Brett Angell to glance a header past a stranded Mike Stowell, and what had looked a safe lead was now giving the home fans something to talk about at half time.

Half time: Wolves 2 Stockport 1

Eight minutes into the second period, these fears were realised, when new signing Ian Moore passed to the near post, and once again Angell popped up, to stab the ball home.

To their credit, Wolves did attempt to rectify the situation with numerous assaults on the County goal, but the impressive Nash was not to be beaten again.

Port Vale v Wolves
8th September 1998

Watch out Beadles about

Wolves travelled to bottom club Vale, with the opportunity to go clear at the top of the division, but came away pointless from a game in which they created far and away the most chances, but failed to capitalise on them.

The home side had not scored for 470 minutes, but with Wolves dominating the first half, Peter Beadle ran fully half the length of the field, before firing a low shot past Stowell.

Wolves, unbeaten up to this point, continued to dominate, and on the stroke of half time, should have equalised, Robbie Keane firing into the side netting when it was easier to score.

Bad went to worse twenty minutes into the second half, when, with Wolves again having the majority of the ball, Rogier Kordes shot was only parried by Mike Stowell, and Tony Naylor finished it off. Two minutes later, Wolves were given a ray of hope, when Robbie Keane latched onto a poor back pass, to round keeper Musslewhite, and slot the ball into an empty net. But despite further pressure, Wolves could not produce another goal.

Wolves v Sunderland
12th September 1998

Caught Napping

Wolves had victory snatched from their grasp with the last kick of a match they had dominated almost throughout. Kevin Phillips stooped to head home after the ball had rebounded from the cross bar, this after Wolves had battled gamely to keep out Summerbee's corner.

It was not what they deserved, and the game should have been out of Sunderland's reach. Bully especially missing several chances, and one super effort from Lee Naylor from fully thirty yards out, crashed against the bar in the thirty fifth minute.

Steve Froggatt was looking extremely menacing for Wolves, and it was he who set up the opener for Robbie Keane to score his sixth goal of the season, crossing a fairly harmless centre, which Gray managed to slice directly into the path of Keane, who lashed a rising shot past the stranded Sorensen. Sunderland had only one worthwhile effort in the opening forty five minutes, and then Mike Stowell held Phillips drive at the second attempt.

The equalising strike in the dying seconds left both the Wolves team and their fans stunned in disbelief.

Huddersfield v Wolves
19th September 1998

Caught Napping Again

For the second Saturday running, Wolves were left shattered by the final kick of the match.

Ben Thornley lobbed Mike Stowell to seal the points for Town in the third minute of injury time, to totally invalidate an equaliser just seconds earlier, Robbie Keane racing onto a long pass from Osborn, to lift the ball over Vaesen

Wolves, with a travelling contingent of three thousand egging them on, played their part in a thrilling end to end first half, with Bull in particular forcing the home keeper into a fine save. But it was Huddersfield who took the lead, Thornley won the ball in midfield, and let fly with a shot which Stowell could only parry, and Dalton scored from six yards.

Connolly, coming on for Naylor, tied to turn the game in Wolves favour, but his long range effort was just inches over the bar.

So, Wolves came away empty handed, and Huddersfield stayed top of the division.

Wolves v Bournemouth (Worthington Cup)

2nd round 2nd leg

22nd September 1998

Not Worthy

For the second time in eight days, Wolves failed to get to grips with Mark Stein. This time he scored either side of Robbie Keane's 57th minute strike for Wolves.

Wolves looked drab and uninteresting in the first half, and it could have been no big surprise, when Stein, unmarked, scored from a pass from Richard Hughes. And to make matters worse, they could have been further behind, as Fletchers diving header went desperately close in the first minute of the second half.

But at last, with Neil Emblen in the driving seat, Wolves seemed to put more heart into the match. First he hit the top of the cross bar with a shot, and then had a powerful header saved by Mark Ovenden.

Ovenden was beaten however, because Keane equalised nipping in to meet Muscat's cross. But Stein was not to be outdone, scoring his third goal of the tie, when slack Wolves marking allowed him to slip through to put "The Cherries" into the third round hat.

Wolves v Queen Park Rangers
29th September 1998

Rangers topple Wolves

Wolves, with the opportunity to go to the top of the division, found themselves two goals behind before there were ten minutes on the clock. And both goals were down to an old adversary, former Stoke striker, Mike Sheron.

Sheron pounced on a poor clearance from Mike Stowell, who was put on the spot by Lee Naylor, who slotted home from six yards.

It was that man again in the ninth minute, when Stowell misjudged a Kevin Gallen cross from the left, to allow Sheron to slide the ball into an empty net.

Wolves did very little in the first half, the only notable exceptions being from Fernando Gomez, who fired in two terrific thirty yarders, only to see them saved by Lee Harper in the Rangers goal. Dominic Foley came on for Connolly, and in the seventy-fifth minute, his efforts were rewarded when he rose to a corner with Emblen, and Foley claimed the goal.

Towards the end, Foley again came close with a diving header, but another sorry home performance yielded no more than Wolves deserved.

AGM Report

The Club's Annual General Meeting was held at the Mason's Arms pub on 22nd July 1998. The Chairman, Stuart Earl, welcomed all those present and immediately apologised for the spasmodic production of the magazine. He also apologised for the cancellation of the Dinner Dance at which we had organised for the members to meet the players after the QPR game. This cancellation was due to the team playing Arsenal the next day in the FA Cup semi-final. It was sad to add to the loss that day that we also subsequently had to forfeit our deposit for the cancellation of the hotel booking.

The minutes of the previous AGM could not be read out as the previous Minutes Secretary had resigned and not passed the information on. Stuart attempted to recall as much as possible about them from memory, but failed miserably!

Regarding membership, Dave Slape reported that our numbers stood at 271. The members had overwhelmingly voted Keith Curle their Player of the Year, with Robbie Keane and Mike Stowell coming second and third respectively. Dave thanked Peter Woodfield and Jim Heath for their kind donations of prizes for the raffle. The meeting thanked Dave for his hard work throughout the year.

The Club's finances were generally sound, although there was a loss of £928.87 on the year. This loss was due, in the main, to the Dinner Dance and the season tickets. To save money this year, the Club would purchase less season tickets, although this matter was to be referred to the Committee at their next meeting. The Club were in the process of going on the Official Supporters Club internet. There were no long term debts from members and upon conclusion of Dave Hodges' report, the Chairman asked for a vote of thanks from the floor for Dave's sterling work in keeping our finances in good order.

Tim Richards, the social Secretary, explained in his report that the £350.00 deposit for the Dinner Dance was unfortunately lost because the booking for the event had been made 6 months previously and the hotel could not find a replacement at short notice. We are again hoping to promote a similar function to coincide with our game against QPR on 6th March 1999. The matter of more pub nights was mentioned from the floor this will be looked into.

Peter Woodfield, the Travel Secretary, reported on his efforts of finding tickets for all those waiting to go to matches. He had arranged trips to all matches but one and because of losses on some tickets, there were no subsidised trips. Everybody who travelled REGULARLY to matches received a ticket for the FA Cup semi-final. Only 8 season tickets have been purchased for the coming season and hopefully we should still be able to obtain 13 Away season tickets, Peter singled out "James" in the ticket office for all his help. The meeting wholeheartedly thanked Peter for his hard work.

John Engleman reported on the magazine, explaining that whilst the quality of the issues had greatly improved, attempts at streamlining it's production in order to reduce costs, was proving problematical but not insurmountable. A plea was made for more members input into the magazine.

The election of offices for the coming year saw the existing Committee voted in en-masse with Leo Masters taking over from Michael Jacobs as minutes Secretary. Membership fees for the coming year were frozen at last years levels. The meeting closed for the partaking of further liquid refreshment at 21.35.

Can this be the commitment and aggression missing from some of Wolves' play this year?
