WOLVERHAMPTON WANDERERS LONDON SUPPORTERS CLUB

FROM THE CHAIR

STUART EARL

The minutes of the AGM are published in this edition, and I have taken steps to ensure that some of the items mentioned have been attended to. Now that our web site is up and running, you can get right up to date with news, travel and WWLSC functions news at www.londonwolves.com, and if you would, in the future, like to take your newsletter over the internet, please let me know.

The Committee have also made some inroads as to the setting up of the Newsletter sub-committee and, hopefully we will have some news on the new editor in the next issue.

On the subject of a joint social events with the DDCWWFCSC, I approached Chris Cox and he, as I rather suspected he would, intimated that any of our members would, as usual, be welcome at their "do", but they would like to keep their individuality. Their event this year took place last week, after the Palace game, and was the usual superb event, mostly organised by Coxy with his usual aplomb.

Approaches have been made to various suppliers with regard to our new Club merchandise and inroads are being made on this subject.

There has not much response for a design for the new WWLSC logo, (in fact only one so far!), but we still keep hoping.

At the time of writing, (early October), all is going swimmingly; top of the table, a game in hand, and playing some quite attractive football to boot. Isn't that great to see?

Many congratulations to David Jones on being named "Manager of the Month" for September. A well deserved honour, and one we will hopefully see many, many more of them.

And finally, as this is the last edition of the year, let me be the first to wish you a very Merry Christmas.

PINT SIZE PAUL'S PUBS

It was off to Coventry for the first away match of the season. The trouble was it was on a Sunday, and a dodgy 6.15 pm kick-off. Come on ITV Digital, review your Sunday schedules, and think about the travelling fans for once, and not the armchair wallers.

The posse eventually arrived in Coventry via Nuneaton at about half past three, and was advised to go to a JD Wetherspoon establishment called "The Silver Standard."

The pub is very large, set on three floors, and a bit bright, (in fact I'd say the walls were painted a very loud yellow). As for the atmosphere, it wasn't bad for a Sunday afternoon, a mixture of football supporters and late Sunday shoppers.

Being a Wetherspoon's pub it had a large selection of ales. Most of the real ale freaks went for "Spitfire," brewed, where else, but in Kent by Shepherd and Neame. They also stocked Masterbrew, Pedigree and good old Jonny Smiths.

The lager boys and girls had Stella, Carling and Fosters to choose from, and also a large selection of alcopops and the old faithful Guinness.

Now to the food menu.

I always find the food in these sort of pubs to be fairly basic, i.e. salad, ham, egg and chips, the usual curry, and a mixed grill.

The bar service was not too bad, but could use a bit of improvement, not quite gold, but not bronze, if you know what I mean.

The trouble may have been that with the pub being so large, and the bar area being so packed, either the bar staff could not hear what was being ordered, or they didn't understand a London accent.

All this aside, Slaps Posse had an enjoyable couple of hours in The Standard. In fact, the whole day was thoroughly enjoyable as you will have seen from the match report and the result.

(This report was to have been in the last edition, but missed the deadline).

TIME TO TAKE STOCK?

WOLVES 2-2 STOCKPORT C.
15th September 2001

New arrival Nathan Blake opened his account and spared the usual embarrassment against the bottom side in the division.

Trailing at half time to a goal from Kuqi, which Oakes should have dealt with, Wolves had been given a lifeline, which promptly snapped, when Cameron missed a last gasp penalty.

But they clawed back into it with all out pressure, and Robinson stabbed home after Kennedy had hit the post.

But with more troops going forward, Wolves were again caught short at the back, when Taylor gave the visitors an undeserved lead after seventy-one minutes.

Far from lying down, Wolves continued forward, and the effort was rewarded with twelve minutes left, when Kennedy crossed from the left, and Blake made no mistake with the equaliser.

Indeed, Wolves could have won but for good work from Jones.

NEW KIDS ON THE BLOCK

GILLINGHAM 2-3 WOLVES
18th September 2001

Four of the new boys took it upon themselves to keep Wolves the only unbeaten side in the division.

Kennedy was the main supply route, as he sent over the crosses that first Blake and then Miller converted, to give Wolves a comfortable two goal, half time cushion.

Playing some attractive passing football, Wolves went ahead when Kennedy crossed from the left, to find Blake, who scored his second in two games for Wolves.

And the game looked settled when Miller got a second.

However, Oakes flapped his hands at a speculative effort to allow The Gills back in, before Newton seemed to have adjusted the situation.

The referee had other ideas, when a minute from the end, he awarded possibly the strangest penalty of the season. Some said Muscat. Some said Butler. Some said foul. Some said push.

Gillingham didn't appeal. Wolves looked stunned. The crowd appeared bemused.

From the resulting penalty, the home side pulled another back.

Wolves held out for the win despite a couple of jittery moments.

KENNEDY'S ASSASSINATION

WALSALL 0-3 WOLVES
21st September 2001

This match was over and done inside six first half minutes.

A goal, which will take a lot of beating in the "Goal Of The Season" stakes, from fully twenty-five yards, from the left, Kennedy cut inside Brightwell just inside the home half of the field, and unleashed a shot of such ferocity that the keeper was lucky to keep his fingers.

Less than two minutes later, also from the left, Naylor crossed and Miller picked up what Blake could not, to make it two for Wolves, and two in three days for his personal tally.

Twenty-six, and Kennedy and Blake combined again, the later heading down for Newton to score the third, and bar the shouting, the match was as good as over. The watching ITV audience getting good value for their cash.

Ex-Wolf Goodman was injured early on, tangling with Mussie, and took no further part but even his spirit would not have been enough to stop a very good performance from the visitors.

And, although they took their foot off the gas in the second period, Wolves ran out comfortable winners.

MATCH REPORTS

(A FURTHER INSTALMENT)

NEWTON CUTS UP FOREST

WOLVES 1-0 NOTT'M FOREST
25th September 2001

Forest came for a point. It was as simple as that, but with only seconds remaining, Newton popped up at the far post, to rifle home a header from Kennedy's' cross.

Wolves had dominated throughout, and had severely tested Forest keeper Ward, with Blake going close twice in the first half.

First he headed a cross from Muscat straight at the keeper, and then he blasted a long-range effort, which Ward did well to cope with.

There was a "bit of a do" late in the second period, when Newton tried to exact revenge for an earlier tackle, and upwards of a dozen players were involve in a handbags episode.

Miller twice went close in the second half, as Wolves pressed hard for the win, firstly a rocket shot hit the upright, but rebounded across the empty goal to safety, and then he fired a shot against the defensive wall which spun dangerously close.

With about ten minutes left, Edwards appeared to go underneath Miller, who fell awkwardly and was carried off. A broken collarbone later meant he was off, back to Glasgow. Another victim of the injury "curse"?

Butler was having an outstanding match, as was Kennedy, who was tailed by two Forest defenders wherever he tried to ply his trade, and this ploy seemed to be working, until he managed to slip over the final telling ball.

TOP OF THE POPS

ROTHERHAM U 0-3 WOLVES
29th September 2001

For the third away game running, Wolves fired three goals, and this was the win that took them two points clear at the top of the division.

Content to soak up pressure and score on the break, the tactic worked again.

A healthy half time lead was enough to enable Wolves to contain the opposition in the second period, and once again it was the new signings who did the damage with both Cameron and Rae opening their Wolves' accounts.

Wolves had the minor share of possession, but took the lead after twenty-three minutes, when Cameron surged through to blast a shot home.

And a quick second four minutes later put them in charge, with Proudlock and Cameron feeding Kennedy on the edge of the area, and he blasted a super strike past Politt.

Rotherham again turned up the heat after the break, but Oakes and his defence were more than coping.

Then, as Rotherham pressed, Wolves almost had a third, when Blakes' shot was well saved by Politt.

But Rae did finally add a third with three minutes remaining, when he fired home yet another pass from Kennedy.

Another booking free game for Wolves as Dave Jones knocks the team into shape, and they are looking a good prospect.

A VALLEY PARADE

BRADFORD CITY 0-3 WOLVES
13th October 2001

In a marvellous match Wolves scored three goals away from home yet again.

But, the score line was a wee bit unfair to City, who played some attractive football, and kept the match well balanced. That is until a super save from Oakes, minutes before the interval, changed all that.

Diving to his left, the Wolves' keeper turned a fierce shot around the post, and from the ensuing corner, the ball was moved rapidly up to the other end, where Proudlock was left to tap in after fine work from Newton.

In the second half, Wolves were put under pressure from the off, but always looked dangerous on the break, and only a fine save from Walsh prevented Blake from increasing the lead.

However, he was powerless to stop a second when Cameron fired in a thirty-yard drive, which Proudlock deflected past the stranded custodian.

A long awaited hat trick was around the corner, and when Newton darted down the right and his cross shot fell to Proudlock, the youngster knocked the ball in at the far post.

This knocked the stuffing out of Bradford, and with the home fans streaming out of the ground, Wolves had two more golden opportunities to add to their tally, firstly Kennedy, the outstanding player on the day, going close, and then Walsh saving from Newton.

CREWE'S MISSILE

WOLVES 0-1 CREWE ALEX
16th September 2001

This was the match to win to go eight points clear at the top of the division, and Wolves approached it with venom hitting both the post and the bar in the opening spell. But try as Wolves might, Crewe were not going to be outdone.

Minutes into the game Muscat crashed a twenty-yard effort against the bar, and visiting keeper Bankouie and his defence somehow managed to thwart everything that Wolves threw at them.

Just fifteen minutes gone and, from a Newton corner, Butler rose high above everyone to thud a header against the bar, and the rebound was scrambled clear.

Five minutes before half time Wolves were reminded of the dangers of all out attack. On the break Hulse drove low against the left post.

Lescott twice went close; one effort well held by Bankouie, the other cleared off the line by Lunt.

Crewe snatched the winner after fifty-five minutes when Hulse, taking a pass from Lunt, again on the break, lobbed over Oakes, and Wolves could not break down a packed Crewe rearguard.

WOLVES SECOND BEST

WOLVES 0-1 CRYSTAL PAL
20th September 2001

The first and second placed sides in the division faced each other at Molineux and came away in the opposite positions.

Wolves, to their credit, came out and took the game to the visitors, but one always had a feeling of impending danger especially the ever-alert Freedman, who went close on three occasions in the first half.

There was plenty of gold shirted possession but very little direct on goal to trouble Clarke.

Then, as the alarm bells rang, on the stroke of half time Kirovski punished the home side with a marvellous strike.

Cutting in from the left to the corner of the penalty area Kirovski unleashed a swerving shot, which left Oakes squirming.

Try as they may Wolves still huffed and puffed to little avail, Kennedy being effectively shut out from the start by the visitors having put two defenders to snuff out the usual supply route, and the main threat coming from the lively Newton, who beavered away and put over a steady stream of crosses which Proudlock and Blake failed to capitalise on.

BLAKE'S PROGRESS

WBA 1-1 WOLVES
25th September 2001

Wolves returned to the head of the division with this point at The Hawthorns, in a match, which, even if it lacked good football, had all the thrills and spills of a local derby.

Blake had given Wolves the lead when he placed a shot into the opposite corner of the net, past the diving Hoult, following a cross from Cameron.

Wolves should have further increased their lead just on half time when, from a Kennedy corner, Hoult saved well from a fierce volley from Newton.

Albion started off the second period with much more gusto, and had a reasonable penalty claim denied when Lescott felled Quinn.

Taylor then clipped a post, and had another "goal" ruled out for offside.

But then, with twenty minutes remaining the match was all square.

A hotly disputed free kick was awarded, and from the dead ball Clement curled the ball into the top corner with Oakes stranded and Muscat still trying to get into position.

The only entry, so far, for the new badge design from regular traveller Guy. (Sorry Guy but I've forgotten your surname).

Please try and work on some designs, because, as usual, there is very little response to an idea that you, the members voted in at the AGM.

The committee loved Guy's design, but unfortunately it is too complicated and intense a design for a badge.

We are, however, considering using this as a cover for a future magazine.

A LOAD OF BULL!

Someone told me "you'll like going to Preston, there's a lot of pubs on the way from the station to the ground!" Well I counted at least a dozen, but I'm sure I missed a couple.

I must admit though, I did like going to Preston. However it wasn't for the pubs, but a great second half performance from the fast improving men in gold and black. (A couple of "Slap's posse" have said that I only write good things about the pubs "The Posse" drink in, well read on).

The omens were bad as soon as we tried to enter the first pub "The Railway." It looked shut, but "Woody" Woodfield knocked on the door, and was granted admission from the landlord, but as the rest of us tried to file in, the afore mentioned landlord was having none of it, "sorry lads home supporters only!" Geoff Newbound was dispatched to rescue Pete who was asked if there were many home supporters in there. "No, one man and his dog" was the reply.

The Posse walked up the high street passing a couple of unsavoury looking establishments en route, when we came across a pub that looked made for us, "The Old Bull."

There were a couple of heavies on the door, but they let us in with no problem.

From the outside the pub gave the appearance of an old fashioned pub, but deceptively, inside it was very modern with a large bar area and lots of tables.

I would think that they serve quite a few meals during the week, but this was Saturday lunchtime, and apart from Slaps Posse there were only a dozen or so locals in for their lunchtime sup.

Now onto the most important thing, the beer, (well lack of it), No real ale, no local wallop, only Theakstons or the old Jonny Smiths. Loads of lagers, Fosters, Stella, Millers etc., and a large selection of alcopops. (I got the impression that "The Old Bull" is the sort of pub where the young people of Preston meet up before they go clubbing

I have to admit that I wasn't enjoying my spell in the pub, the company was ok, but I was beginning to feel a little uneasy, but that said, the pub had a large screen with Sky Sports showing, a pool table and a table football game, and although not many of us were enjoying the place, we agreed to meet there after the match, and enquired from the doormen if we could get back in afterwards. "Yes lads, enjoy the game."

Well, I'm sorry to say that they were talking from somewhere else with a hole and not their mouths, because on returning we got "sorry lads you can't come in," the excuse being that some of us had trainers on. I don't suppose it was anything to do with the result was it?

Opposite was a pub called "The Coach Inn" and so we ended up in there

"The Coach Inn" is not a pub to get too excited about, done out in old mahogany and lots of seats, so that you can enjoy your pint in comfort.

Talking of pints, this is another pub that had no real ale. Perhaps the people of Preston don't drink real ale!

I would say that "The Coach Inn" was not a football supporters pub, with not a lot to choose from, only Worthington, Carling or Guinness.

I did not enjoy either of the pubs we visited; in fact I would say they were pants!

Enjoy your drink.
